Performance Steps

1. Chaplain assistants support the unit ministry team (UMT) in providing for the religious, spiritual, moral, and ethical well-being of all military personnel in the command. The chaplain assistant must be a soldier of moral excellence and strong ethical character. Their personal conduct must be consistent with the values represented by the religious activities and programs supported by the UMT. In accepting the position of a chaplain assistant, the enlisted soldier accepts the high moral and ethical standards of the position.

2. Chaplain assistants must be committed to the Army Values. The Army Values are the solid rock upon which everything else stands, especially in combat." All Army Leaders and soldiers should seek to not only understand the Army Values, "but believe in them, model them in their own actions, and teach others to accept and live by them." The Army Values are:

- a. Loyalty. Bear true faith and allegiance to the US Constitution, the Army, your unit, and other soldiers.
- b. Duty. Fulfill your obligations.
- c. Respect. Treat people as they should be treated.
- d. Selfless service. Put the welfare of the nation, the Army, and subordinates above your own.
- e. Honor. Live up to all the Army Values.
- f. Integrity. Do what's right-legally and morally.
- g. Personal Courage. Face fear, danger, or Adversity (physical or Moral).

3. Chaplain assistants must also exhibit and value the following five professional qualities.

- a. Commitment. To become one with, to join willingly, with 100% of your being.
- b. Competence. Being technically proficient.
- c. Candor. Being honest, sincere, frank.
- d. Compassion. Respect for the dignity of others. Treating others the way in which we want to be treated.
- e. Courage.

(1) Physical Courage is being afraid and doing it anyway.

(2) Moral Courage is doing the right thing even though it is not the convenient or expedient thing...even though you are going to suffer for doing it.

4. The training you provide to chaplain assistants in the area of moral and ethical responsibilities must take the above information into consideration. You may also deal with such areas as those listed below.

a. Reputation. Reputation refers to the estimation others have of you and your moral worth (or good name) . You should value your reputation and do nothing to damage it. You should also do nothing to wrongfully damage the reputation of others.

b. Clean Speech. Our speech is the most noticeable demonstration to others of the values we adhere to and our estimation of ourselves and others. Foul words indicate a foul mind, mental laziness, feelings of inferiority, and/or emotional immaturity. Our speech should also be free from deceit, lies, profanity, slander, and malicious gossip.

c. Sexual conduct. The Army requires that we be strong enough to control the sex drive and to channel it into acceptable modes of behavior. Failure to do this can result in broken lives, individual grief, unwanted pregnancy, and disease.

d. Responsibility. Responsibility refers to the degree to which others can depend on you to complete those tasks or obligations which are assigned to you or which you agree to do voluntarily. Soldiers and their family members assume that the chaplain and the chaplain assistant will show a great deal of responsibility.

e. Self-discipline. Self-discipline is the correction or regulation of oneself to preserve, strengthen, or perfect mind, body, and those values discussed in this task summary. Self-discipline is essential in being all you can be.

f. Self-control. Self-control is the restraint you exercise over your impulses, emotions, or desires in order to achieve those values and qualities discussed in this task summary. Yielding to every impulse, emotion, or desire would harm us as well as those around us.

g. Consideration. Consideration means behaving toward others as you would have them behave toward you. If everyone would do this, most of the problems of the world might be eliminated. However, it has to begin with each individual, even when others about you are not showing consideration. If you show consideration, you will find that others will follow your example.

h. Moderation. Moderation is the avoidance of extremes of behavior or expression. Each person has to judge what limits they must observe in order to achieve the best body and the best mind and to present the best role model for others.

i. Worship in life. Every life can be made more complete by worship. It can be the worship of God or it can be the honoring of high ideals such as goodness, honor, love, and forgiveness. As chaplain assistants, it is our responsibility to provide the support which will enable worship to take place.

Environment: Environmental protection is not just the law but the right thing to do. It is a continual process and starts with deliberate planning. Always be alert to ways to protect our environment during training and missions. In doing so, you will contribute to the sustainment of our training resources while protecting people and the environment from harmful effects. Refer to the current Environmental Considerations manual and the current GTA Environmental-related Risk Assessment card. Environmental protection is a continual process. Always be alert to ways to protect our environment and reduce waste.

Safety: In a training environment, leaders must perform a risk assessment in accordance with ATP 5-19, Risk Management. Leaders will complete the current Deliberate Risk Assessment Worksheet in accordance with the TRADOC Safety Officer during the planning and completion of each task and sub-task by assessing mission, enemy, terrain and weather, troops and support available-time available and civil considerations, (METT-TC). Note:

During MOPP training, leaders must ensure personnel are monitored for potential heat injury. Local policies and procedures must be followed during times of increased heat category in order to avoid heat related injury. Consider the MOPP work/rest cycles and water replacement guidelines IAW FM 3-11.4, Multiservice Tactics, Techniques, and Procedures for Nuclear, Biological, and Chemical (NBC) Protection, FM 3-11.5, Multiservice Tactics, Techniques, and Procedures for Chemical, Biological, Radiological, and Nuclear Decontamination. Everyone is responsible for safety. A thorough risk assessment must be completed prior to every mission or operation.
