

UNITED STATES ARMY
LOGISTICS MANAGEMENT COLLEGE
FORT LEE, VIRGINIA 23801-1705

LOGISTICS EXECUTIVE DEVELOPMENT COURSE

THEATER LOGISTICS HANDBOOK

(5th Edition)

Logisticians...are truly the unsung heroes who have made a vital difference in battle – a difference that is measured in the lives of soldiers and the fate of nations.

GEN Carl E. Vuono
United States Army Chief of Staff
June 1987 – June 1991

"Educational Excellence for Tomorrow's Defense"

Copyright © 2001. United States Army Logistics Management College, School of Logistics Science, Logistics Executive Development Department.

All rights reserved. The material contained in this handbook has been produced by the authority of the Commandant, United States Army Logistics Management College (USALMC). This handbook is approved for public release. Distribution is restricted for use by students enrolled in USALMC courses, primarily the Logistics Executive Development Course and the Associate Logistics Executive Development Course.

An electronic version of this handbook is available at the Logistics Executive Development Course Home Page for the express use by students and prospective students of the United States Army Logistics Management College.

Material From:

The information, data, and other material including graphics, charts and diagrams, has been obtained and reproduced from United States Army and other Department of Defense publications. Certain material as noted, has been included with permission from the United States Army Combined Arms Support Command (CASCOM).

First Printed: Fort Lee, Virginia 1996.

Reprinted: 1997 1999 2000

This publication supersedes the Combat Logisticians Handbook – 2000.

Printed in the United States of America

