

ART 1.1.2 Conduct Tactical Deployment and Redeployment Activities

Deployment consists of activities required to prepare and move forces, supplies, and equipment to a theater. Deployment directly impacts the timing and amount of deliverable combat power. Redeployment involves the return of personnel, equipment, and materiel to home, demobilization stations, or both home and demobilization stations. Commanders consider redeployment as an operational movement critical in reestablishing force readiness. Redeployment planning is an integral part of employment planning and should be coordinated with mission termination or transition plans. (FM 3-35) (CASCOM)

ART 1.3 (Conduct Tactical Troop Movements) addresses onward movement.
